

TREATY DANGER.

Such Is the Keynote of Senator Carter's Spirited 'Speech.'

AN IMPASSIONED ADDRESS.

Resolutions of Intention Toward the Philippines He Calls a Lack of Confidence.

Washington, Jan. 30.—Prior to to-day's executive session of the Senate, Senator Jones of Arkansas opened a debate by insisting that there should be taken for the discussion of pending resolutions having a collateral bearing upon the treaty before the Senate itself was disposed of. The resolutions were made the text of a strong speech by Mr. Carter, of Montana.

Ordinarily calm and deliberate, Mr. Carter to-day spoke with impassioned earnestness, warning his colleagues that a favorable vote on any of the pending resolutions would be a vote of lack of confidence in the American people. So far as he was personally concerned, Mr. Carter said, he was not disposed to mortgage the future or to attempt to embarrass in any manner the action of any future Congress. The treaty did not bind Congress to do anything that was not in consonance with the enlightened sense of the American people. For what purpose, therefore, he asked, do the gentlemen who are urging the adoption of these resolutions seek to bind the action of the next Congress? He pointed out that our information concerning the Philippines and their inhabitants was very meagre, and he desired ample time to consider what was wise and prudent and best to do with the newly acquired territory before definite action was taken.

"In the very nature of things," said Mr. Carter, "the sovereignty of the islands, so far as it was in the possession of Spain, passed by the treaty to the United States." Mr. Carter said that Senators were belittling the dignity of the Philippines and the confidence reposed in this country by foreign nations by endeavoring to mortgage the future policy of the Government and voting a vote of lack of confidence by even attempting to adopt such resolutions as were pending. He declared that the passage of such resolutions was a declaration that the people had no confidence in those who are in position to make a disposition of the islands in accordance with the terms of the treaty.

"The adoption of these resolutions," he declared, "would be a pledge to those who are defying the authority of the United States Government to the Philippines Islands. As a nation we cannot afford to have it understood that the United States army was expelled from those islands. Some of the Philippine Islands seem to have been imported by way of the Hong Kong Philippine Junta into this country. I would vote for such a petty trifling promise, even if it were to take the entire army of the United States to show the aggression of Malaya, Mohammedans and Filipinos, and to give the authority that we would not hold one inch."

Mr. Carter thought this country needed a change in its foreign policy, and he thought that our treaty with the Philippines was much abroad, until it is once thoroughly understood that an American citizen would be rejected in all his rights in any part of the world.

SENATE ENLIGHTENED ON PHILIPPINE POLICY.

Information Handed In Which the Journal Had Made Public Long Ago.

Washington, Jan. 30.—On the day following that upon which the American Commissioners received their instructions before starting for Paris, the Journal announced that those instructions did not contemplate the annexation of the island of Luzon in the Philippine group.

The accuracy of the Journal's information was demonstrated today when the President sent to the Senate copies of all the instructions given to the Peace Commissioners. When more than a month ago the Paris negotiations had been in progress, the duties and necessities of the situation compelled the President and Cabinet to the decision to extend the terms of the White House and the Commissioners in Paris took three hours and a half and occupied the whole of the executive session of the day. The instructions were practically all of these messages had been made public shortly after their receipt in Washington, there was little that was withheld from the public, and the instructions communicated to the Senate were identical.

Just before adjournment an attempt was made to make all this secret until after the treaty had been acted upon.

NEW YORK URGES THAT TREATY BE RATIFIED.

Albany, Jan. 30.—Assemblyman E. C. Brennan, of Kings, started the debate in the House to-night on the resolution instructing the New York Senators on the policy of expansion by the introduction of an amended resolution to his substitute offered on Monday last. It urged a speedy ratification of the treaty, as a patriotic duty demanded by the highest and best interests of the nation.

Mr. Phillips, the introducer of the original resolution, said: "When the treaty of peace was first presented to the Senate it would not have been thought possible that it could be ratified without committing the United States irrevocably to the annexation of the Philippines. The President of the United States, however, has practically satisfied every one that ratification does not necessarily mean the annexation of the Philippines."

"Although I have always been unalterably opposed to expansion beyond our natural and appropriate environment, I am, however, everything in American and in view thereof favor the ratification of the treaty to the end that the present prosperity of our country may be conserved."

Mr. Brennan's resolution was then adopted by a viva voce vote.

MILLIONAIRE CLOTHIER'S SON LEAVES LITTLE.

Syracuse, N. Y., Jan. 30.—Alonso Chester Yates, son of the late millionaire clothier of the same name, who inherits the well-known Yates Castle in this city, died at Nice, France, this morning.

Alonso had, since his father's death, run through most of his share of the estate. He leaves about $100,000, which goes to his mother, of this city, and to his wife, now of Milwaukee, who has not lived with him for a year.

Joe Palace and Winter Carnival. The Winter Carnival and Joe Palace at Saratoga Lake in the Adirondacks is attracting large numbers from the city who enjoy the bathing dry and the frost. The Carnival will end Thursday evening, February 2, with a grand illumination, fireworks and shooting of the Joe Palace. The New York Tribune has announced a very low rate for Saratoga Lake and return.

US ANY MORE.

"You're It," Says Assessor, and Rockaway Wants to Quit the City Game.

OBJECT TO TAX PAYING.

Was Great Fun Being Part of Greater New York Until the Bill Came In.

Rockaway Beach doesn't want to play in Greater New York's back yard any more. It wants to secede and be a part of Nassau County. Rockaway Beach hasn't the slightest objection to New York's sliding down to its beaches and marshes in the summer time. But Rockaway Beach dislikes being bossed and assessed. It longs for the low taxes of village life.

And it's all on account of Assessor Connelly. The rebellious district includes all of the old Fifth Ward of Queens County. It includes the villages of Inwood, Arverne and Far Rockaway. It is about twelve miles long and one and a half miles wide.

Under the old village charters the citizens bought and sold villa sites and bath-house privileges and speculated in the sand on which the surf beats.

There was an assessor abroad in Rockaway in those days, but, as one of the most bitter of the seceders said yesterday: "He was always a friend of the people. He was a good man. He knew his business and he never assessed any more than what he could help."

The new regime of metropolitan tax collecting began for Rockaway Beach on January 1, when Assessor Connelly opened his office in Long Island City. Mr. Connelly apparently believes the first duty of an assessor is to assess. He began raising values on property for taxation purposes. He insists his assessments were not higher than they should be. But the Rockawayites talk about outrage and robbery and jobs.

Property Owners Angry. The Property Owners' League will hold a red hot meeting around the stove in Literary Hall, at Arverne to-night, to protest and denounce. But that isn't all. Assessor W. C. Doughty, of Inwood, introduced some time ago a bill into the Legislature providing for the secession of the village of Inwood from Greater New York.

Mr. Doughty lives in Inwood. That's the reason he, in his bill, gave Inwood the exclusive privilege of being free from the curse of the tax gatherer. His bill comes up for hearing before the Assembly Committee on Internal Affairs next Wednesday afternoon. A delegation of about twenty citizens of Rockaway Beach will be present and have the names of their respective villages added to that of Inwood. They say Mr. Doughty has consented to the modification.

The strange part of it is that all the men who complain of unjust taxation strenuously object to protesting their assessments and have the names of their respective villages added to that of Inwood. They say Mr. Doughty has consented to the modification.

"Go to Albert Meisel," everybody said. Meisel keeps a road house near Hammel's Station. He is a nephew of Jake Norcia and the leader in the Republican politics of Rockaway. He is also the leader of the secession movement.

"I can't understand it," said Mr. Meisel, "but I can give you an instance. The Brower property, on Waverly avenue, is worth about $2,500; it is assessed at $5,000. The house on the corner of Waverly and 10th, which adjoins Rockaway on the east, is assessed at $3,000. Skene said he'd pay $500 for it, and there the matter stood. When Connelly came along and assessed it for $1,500, he said: 'I can't understand it, but I can give you an instance.
